Primary Examiner
Art Unit: 1714

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The cited prior art does not disclose the instantly claimed reaction product in a heat-curable nor UV curable aqueous polyurethane dispersion. "Synthesized essentially from" was given the meaning given "consisting essentially of" in the case law. The "use" claims 19-22 were deemed to be definite because the skilled artisan would understand the method which "to coat substrates" and "as or in exterior coatings" implies. This position is consistent with recent case law regarding preambles in that these phrases give a clear indication to the skilled artisan as to what definite method step is required by the term "use".

EP 98752 A2 is representative of the closest prior art seen by the examiner. It does not teach the use of the instantly claimed molecular weight "polyah", i.e. the instantly claimed component c, nor the blocking of the NCO groups per claim limitation f in combination with all of the other requirements of the instant claims. There is not permissible rationale for making these changes to the polymer of EP 98752 A2.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
